COLLEGE PLANNING: HOW TO GET STARTED

STEP 1: Get Started

Assess your strengths, weaknesses, goals passions, learning styles, and social skills. What is most important to you in the college-search process? What do you hope to learn from the process? Visit the MHS or LCHS College & Career website for career exploration resources at <http://schools.misd.org/page/stacylabruyere-home> or <http://schools.misd.org/page/lchs.ccc>

STEP 2: Make Some Basic Decisions

Where do you want to live?

Will you go to college full time (at least 12 hours per semester) or part time?

Do you want to attend a single sex school, a technical school, a public or private college, a large university, a small liberal arts college, or a historically black or religiously affiliated college?

How important is the cultural/ ideological diversity of the student body?

STEP 3: Enlist Help

Who do you want to assist you in this process (parents, siblings, relatives, or friends)?

STEP 4: Consult References and Websites

Look at college directories (College Board's College Handbook, Barron's Peterson's) and use college searches (<https://bigfuture.collegeboard.org/>). Visit the websites of the colleges that interest you. Visit your high school College & Career Center website for available resources.

Step 5: Talk

Discuss your goals and plans with your parents, teachers, college & career coordinator, and school counselor. They can provide helpful advice.

Step 6: Meet with College Representatives

Visit college representatives when they come to your high school. Make a list of your important questions to ask the representatives or use the Top 24 Questions on the back of this paper as a guide. Also meet college personnel at area college fairs.

Step 7: Visit Campuses

Try to go to the college campus and take a tour, meet with admission and financial aid representatives, and ask students what they think about the college. In addition, a junior or senior student's absence of up to two days related to visiting a college or university will be considered an exemption, provided the student follows the campus procedures to verify such a visit, provides the correct documentation, and makes up any work missed. Once you schedule your visit with the institution, bring back the documentation of your visit and turn it into your campus attendance office the day you return to high school.

Can't make the trip? Many colleges provide virtual tours on their websites or register for a 30 minute presentation of your favorite college through the CCC Calendar on through your high school college and career center website.
